Chuck Marohnic's career spans more than four decades as a respected pianist, educator, author, director, composer and arranger. His numerous recordings, instructional books and collections of arrangements have taken him from the classroom as Emeritus Director of Jazz Studies at Arizona State University to Music Serving the Word Ministries, where Chuck serves as Director of Workshops and Education.

Chuck's current work for MSW is the creation Psalms Reborn (formerly known as the Jazz Psalms Project). His practice of the ancient meditation technique of Lectio Divina has led him to share the beauty of God's Word through the Book of Psalms composed, arranged and performed in the language of modern music. In the true spirit of Music Serving the Word, Psalms Reborn has become a resource for not only today's church but the church of tomorrow.
